I am a highly experienced oil and gas professional with over 16 years of hands-on expertise in drilling and workover operations. Throughout my career, I have been involved in the successful drilling of both shallow and deep wells and have carried out the repair and restoration of numerous problematic wells. I have strong experience in executing well intervention operations and working in high-pressure, high-temperature (HPHT) environments, where safety, precision, and technical competence are critical. My career has taken me through a wide range of challenging conditions, requiring not only deep technical knowledge but also strong decision-making and leadership skills. I have consistently demonstrated the ability to identify problems, develop practical solutions, and deliver results under pressure. I have been a part of several multinational projects, working with international teams from various cultural and professional backgrounds. This has enhanced my ability to collaborate, communicate effectively, and adapt to different work environments. I am known for being reliable, dedicated, and committed to achieving operational excellence. Currently, I reside in Aktau, Kazakhstan. I am open to new opportunities where I can contribute my knowledge, leadership, and field expertise. You can trust me with any complex task—I will approach it with full responsibility and determination.
