Drilling Engineer with 10 years of experience. Dedication, and loyalty are two of my driving values, and I have demonstrated them in this place of employment. As an engineering professional, my ultimate goal is to supply high quality deliverables for drilling campaigns and field developments by working both within multidisciplinary teams and individually. Before joining Dragon Oil, i worked as Drilling & Well Integrity engineer for EON E&P in London, This has allowed me to foster an unprecedented understanding and recognition of different socio-cultural and economic norms. It has granted me a new perspective which has fueled my professional and personal growth. I had completed my bachelor's degree in Petroleum Engineering from Boumerdes University in Algeria, and completed the Well Engineering Competency program with Fearnley Proctor Group in UK.	Education: Petroleum engineering degree from university of Boumerdes, Algeria Master in Drilling engineering, Fernley Proctor, UK Languages: English, Arabic, Fench Project Management Well planning
