-----------------------------------	--

Having worked for my first employer for sixteen years, progressing from Roustabout to Toolpusher and working for my second employer for over eight years, working as Night Toolpusher and Rig Superintendent gaining extensive knowledge of drilling I am now looking for a new challenge to broaden my experience. My previous positions of Toolpusher and Rig Superintendent have given me knowledge of how efficiency and planning to minimise critical path disruptions are key to a successful operation. I understand that reviewing work instructions against Company procedures is also an important part of a safe, efficient and successful operation. Aiming to continually improve safety attitudes, as well as the effectiveness of performances to meet company targets; I am able to get on well with all colleagues and get the best out of them. I have an excellent attitude towards health, safety and environment and all safety tools, such as After action reviews, Pre-job safety meetings, Lessons learnt, Toolbox talks and Self verifications to name a few. Being proactive when it comes to reviewing risk assessments and standard operating procedures, I have no problem working under pressure and to a deadline. With extensive experience troubleshooting and problem solving due to the dynamics of offshore drilling operations I would like to share my experience and knowledge and also learn from others in the industry. I look forward to being a part of a new team to further my ambitions. I would like to join a company such as Archer, with what I believe to be the right ideas in progressing in this industry and looking to the future. I look forward to hearing back from your hiring team, hopefully to discuss my qualifications further.
