-----------------------------------	--

I have hands-on field experience in the Oil and Gas industry, with a strong background in Coiled Tubing and Nitrogen operations. My role involved participating in various well intervention activities, ensuring that all operations were carried out safely, efficiently, and in accordance with company procedures and HSE standards. I worked closely with supervisors, engineers, and field crews to execute daily operations under challenging field conditions. I was responsible for operating and monitoring Coiled Tubing equipment during different types of jobs such as Clean Out, Kick Off, Acid Job, and well stimulation operations. I actively participated in Nitrogen pumping operations, ensuring correct pressure, flow rates, and equipment performance during live well interventions. I have experience working with fluid pumping systems including SPM and HT pumps, as well as equipment associated with Halliburton services. Part of my responsibilities included equipment preparation, rig-up and rig-down activities, routine inspection, and basic preventive maintenance of pumps, hoses, injectors, and surface equipment. I ensured that all tools and equipment were in good working condition before starting operations. I strictly followed safety procedures, including H2S awareness, pressure control measures, and job safety analysis (JSA). I also contributed to maintaining clear communication within the team, reporting any abnormalities or risks to the supervisor immediately. Working in high-pressure environments helped me develop strong problem-solving skills, discipline, and the ability to work effectively as part of a team. I am committed to continuous learning, improving operational performance, and maintaining a high level of safety and professionalism in all field operations.

Coiled Tubing and Nitrogen operations experience, including clean out, kick off, acidizing, stimulation jobs, with strong focus on safety, equipment handling, and field teamwork.
