Create and maintain a safe, healthy workplace by identifying hazards, assessing risks, developing policies, and ensuring compliance with regulations like OSHA, primarily through inspections, risk assessments, employee training, incident investigation, and promoting a strong safety culture to prevent accidents and injuries. They act as the link between management and employees .they are proactive guardians of workplace well-being, balancing regulatory demands with practical, day-to-day safety management. The safety officer is an internal employee who is assigned to prevent accidents, respond to emergencies and evaluate the effectiveness of the company's safety programs. A safety officer identifies safety hazards, investigates them thoroughly, and controls them before someone gets hurt. The safety officer is the 'head' of the safety department and, in most organizations, reports to the Chief Operations Officer. The safety officer also checks if the safety program is working effectively and efficiently to meet all requirements of the OSHA standards.	NEBOSH, OSHA, IOSH and other 23 certification courses
